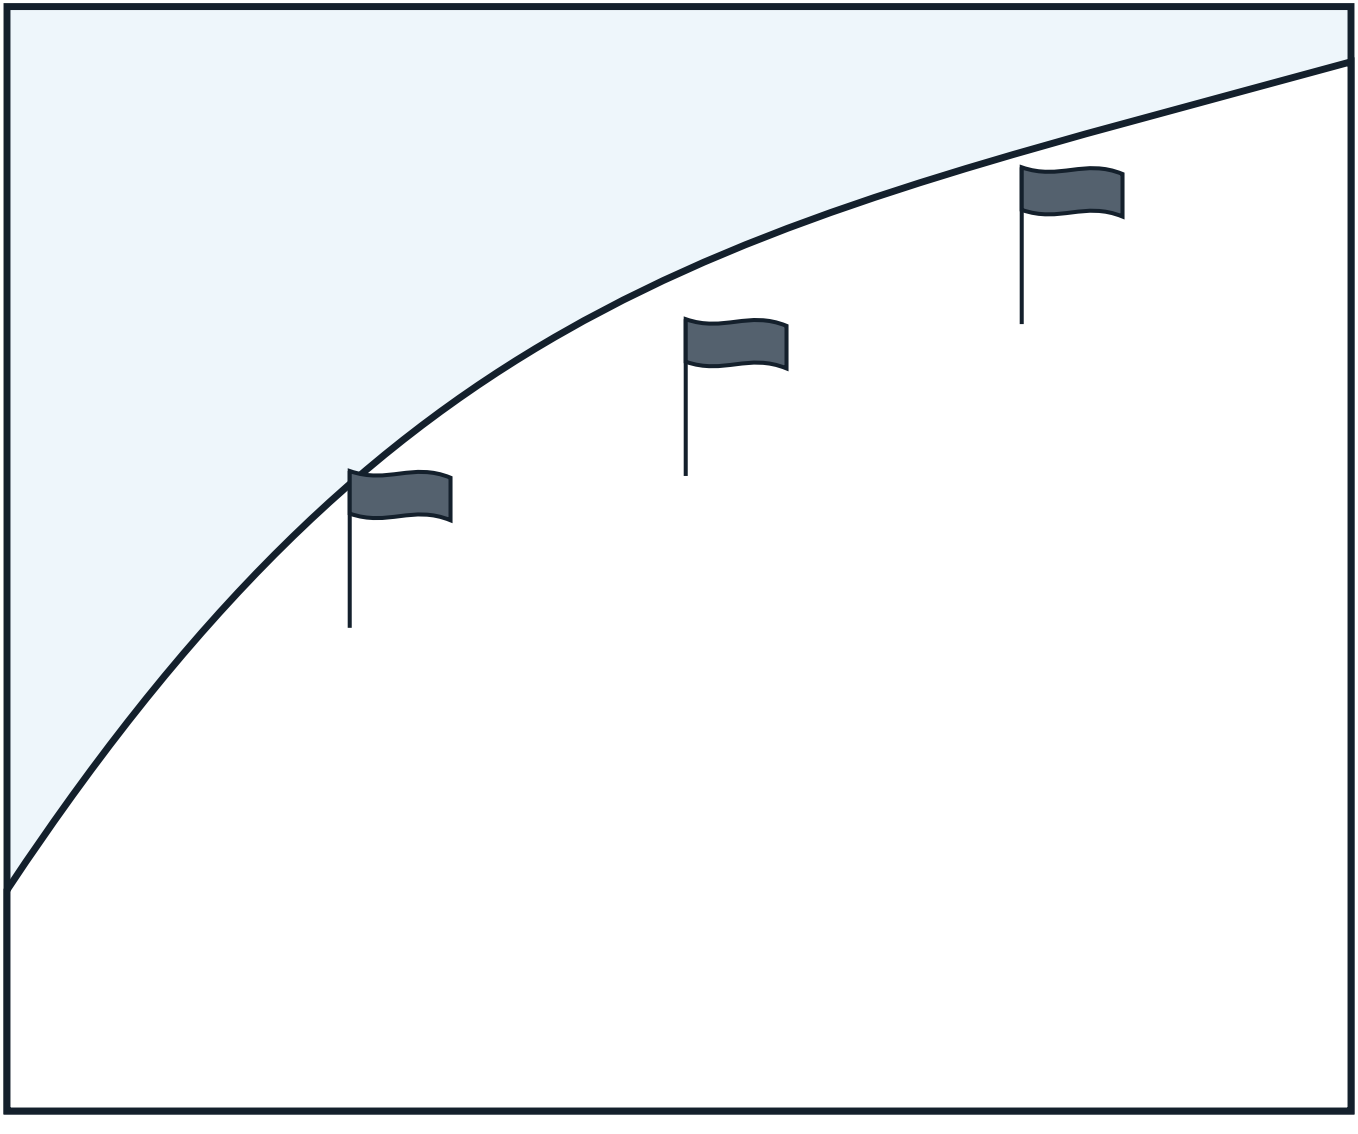
The Playing Area



Good to Know

Bobsleigh, luge and skeleton are governed by the IBSF and FIL under technical codes (sled specifications, track homologation, start and weight rules) whose modern frontier is track safety — the Whistler track's corners were re-profiled after the fatal 2010 training crash, a venue and safety response administered through track certification rather than a dated racing-law change. No major documented rule change is carried for the sliding sports.
