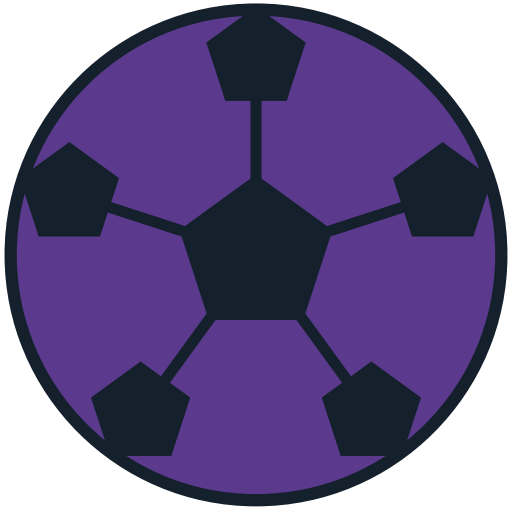
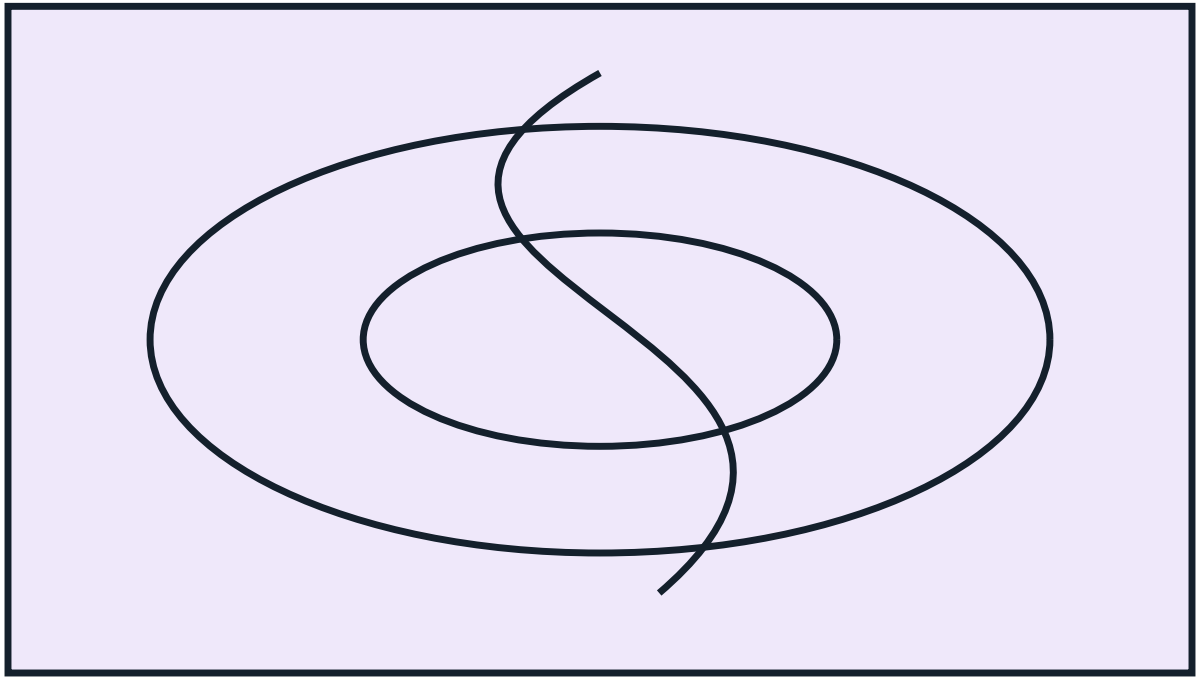
Meet Chase Tag!

Pro format of the playground game.



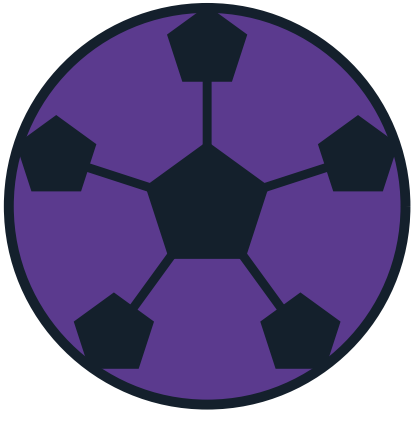
Where It Is Played

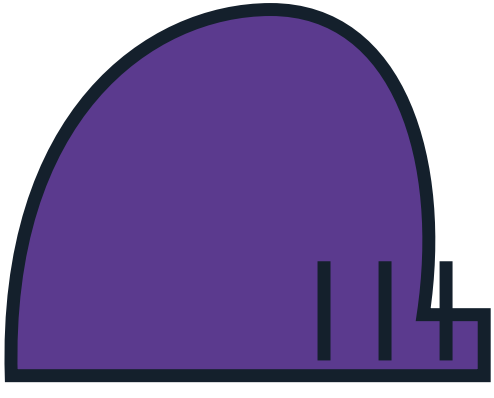
The Quad: a 12 m x 12 m square arena filled with parkour-style obstacles (an 8 m x 8 m Quad is also used).



The Gear

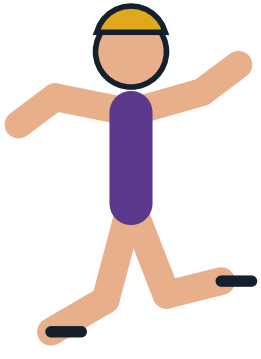
No ball or apparatus — athletic kit and trainers; the obstacles of the Quad are the playing equipment.





How It Starts

Find a licensed WCT Quad venue, join classes or open training (no licence needed), and get a WCT athlete licence to enter ranked sessions and Chase-Offs.



How to Play

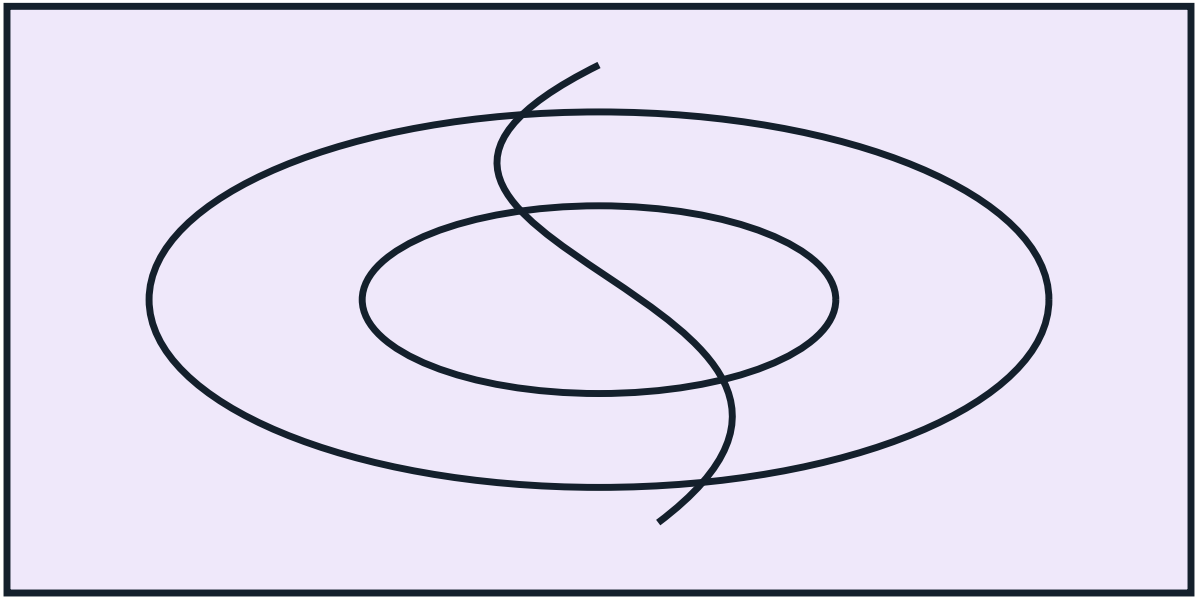
- Format (Chase-Off): two teams of up to five athletes (six in some championship descriptions) contest a pre-determined number of chases, usually 16.
- Each chase lasts 20 seconds and pits one athlete from each team against each other — one Chaser, one Evader — inside the Quad.
- Scoring: only an evasion scores — a team gets one point when its Evader survives the full 20 seconds untagged; the team with the most points after all chases wins the match.
- The winning athlete of each chase stays on as Evader for the next chase; the losing athlete leaves and is replaced by a team-mate who becomes the Chaser.

More of the Game

- Tags must be made with the hand — a tag with the foot does not count.
- If an athlete steps out of bounds (outside the Quad) they lose that chase.
- Dangerous play is prohibited, and in MatchPlay tag-backs are also prohibited.
- Rounds / chases are separated by short rest breaks (25 seconds in championship play), and tied matches are settled by a sudden-death chase-off.

The Shape of a Match

One-on-one 20-second chases on an obstacle course: the Chaser tries to tag the Evader by hand; surviving 20 seconds scores a point for the Evader's team across a 16-chase match.



More of the Extreme & urban Family

- Skateboarding — Street and park skating, an Olympic sport and X Games staple.
- BMX — Racing and freestyle on small bikes.
- Sport Climbing — Boulder, lead and speed climbing, an Olympic sport.
- Parkour and Freerunning — Move through obstacles with vaults and jumps.
- Ultimate Frisbee — Seven-a-side disc game, pro in North America.
- Tricking — Martial-arts kicks combined with flips.

A Note on the Rules

World Chase Tag runs an authored code (founded 2012–16 in London): 20-second chases in a fixed arena ('the Quad'), taggers and evaders, quad rules standardised by the championship itself. A young authored format without a law-change history. No major documented rule change is carried for chase tag.
